

UNION

Question

What norms or habits might be holding us back?

What small changes in collaboration could help us break old habits? For example, does fear of conflict hinder feedback or addressing tough issues? Or is decision-making too slow?